Fingerpicking Techniques for Kids

Basic Fingerpicking Patterns

Introduce children to simple fingerpicking patterns that they can practice. Here are a few patterns to start with:

1. Alternating Bass: Use the thumb to pluck the bass note followed by the index or middle finger for the higher strings.
2. Arpeggio Picking: Play each note of a chord one at a time, allowing the sound to resonate before moving to the next note.

3. Travis Picking: This involves a steady bass note played with the thumb while the fingers alternate between higher strings.

Exercises for Developing Finger Strength

Encouraging kids to practice finger exercises can improve their finger strength and coordination. Here are some exercises:

- Five-Finger Exercise: Start by placing each finger on a different fret of the same string and plucking them in sequence.
- String Skipping: Practice plucking non-adjacent strings to develop precision and control.
