Core Themes in All of Grace

Salvation as a Gift of Grace

One of the primary themes is that salvation cannot be earned by human works but is entirely a gift from God. Spurgeon stresses that all aspects of redemption—justification, sanctification, and perseverance—are results of divine grace rather than human merit.

The Role of Faith

Without faith, salvation is impossible, but faith is always the response to God's gracious offer.

The Assurance of Salvation

Spurgeon offers comfort to believers by affirming that assurance of salvation comes from trusting in God's promises rather than human feelings or performance. This theme encourages Christians to rest confidently in the finished work of Christ.

Human Inability and Divine Initiative
