2. Use Active Learning Techniques

Passive reading is less effective than active learning. Engage with the material through:

- Writing notes: Summarize key concepts in your own words.
- Teaching others: Explain topics to a friend or family member to reinforce your understanding.
- Hands-on practice: If possible, practice clinical skills in a simulated environment or during your training program.

3. Take Regular Breaks

Studying for long periods without breaks can lead to burnout. Incorporate short breaks into your study sessions to maintain focus and retention.

4. Review Regularly

Consistent review of previously covered material is crucial for retention. Set aside time each week to revisit key concepts and practice questions.
