This article will explore the various players who wore this number, their contributions, and the impact they left on the franchise and its fan base.

Significance of the Number 19

The number 19 may not be as iconic as other numbers in Cowboys history, such as 8 (Troy Aikman) or 88 (Michael Irvin), but it has its own unique significance. The players who wore this number often played crucial roles in pivotal moments in the team's history. From reliable wide receivers to significant special teams contributors, the number 19 has had its share of memorable moments.

Notable Players Who Wore Number 19

Several players have had the privilege of wearing the number 19 for the Dallas Cowboys, each leaving their mark in different ways. Here are some of the most notable players associated with this number:

1. Danny White (1980-1988)

- Position: Quarterback
- Key Contributions:
 - White took over as the starting quarterback after the legendary Roger Staubach retired. He was known for his strong arm and ability to lead the team in clutch situations.
 - He led the Cowboys to three consecutive NFC Championship games from 1980 to 1982.
 - White also played as a punter early in his career, showcasing his versatility.

2. Troy Aikman (1990-2000)

- Position: Quarterback
- Note: While Aikman is primarily known for wearing number 8, he wore 19 during his rookie season.
- Key Contributions:
 - Aikman would go on to become one of the most successful quarterbacks in NFL history, leading the Cowboys to three Super Bowl victories in the 1990s.
 - His rookie season laid the groundwork for his Hall of Fame career.

3. Devin Street (2014-2016)

- Position: Wide Receiver
- Key Contributions:
 - Street was a fifth-round draft pick from the University of Pittsburgh who contributed to the team's receiving corps.
 - Although his time with the team was short, he was part of the Cowboys' efforts to maintain a competitive passing game during a transitional period.

4. CeeDee Lamb (2020-present)

- Position: Wide Receiver
- Key Contributions:
 - Drafted in the first round of the 2020 NFL Draft, Lamb quickly established himself as a top receiver for the Cowboys.
 - Known for his exceptional route-running and catching ability, Lamb has become a key player in the Cowboys' offense.
 - As of 2023, Lamb continues to wear number 19 and is considered one of the brightest stars in the NFL.

Memorable Moments Associated with Number 19

Throughout the history of the Dallas Cowboys, the players who wore number 19 have been involved in several memorable moments. Here are some of the highlights:

- Danny White's Playoff Runs: White's strong performances in the early 1980s helped solidify the Cowboys as a dominant force in the NFC. Although they fell short of winning the Super Bowl during his tenure, his leadership and ability to rally the team in tough situations were pivotal.
- Troy Aikman's Rookie Season: Aikman's first year in 1989 was filled with growing pains, but wearing number 19, he showed flashes of the greatness that would come. His ability to bounce back from adversity set the tone for his Hall of Fame career.
- Devin Street's Touchdown: In a game against the New York Giants in 2014, Street scored a key touchdown that showcased his potential as a playmaker for the Cowboys.
- CeeDee Lamb's Breakout Game: In a 2021 matchup against the Philadelphia Eagles, Lamb recorded over 100 receiving yards and two touchdowns, solidifying his role as a primary target in the Cowboys' high-octane offense.
